

Contributors

Christian Higham is a recent Master of Arts in Cultural Studies graduate. She is interested in community development planning and equitable public engagement.

Cierra Bettens is completing her final year of studies in the Bachelor of Arts (Honours) program in Political Science.

Emma Joyal (she/her) is a fourth-year student at the University of Winnipeg. She is completing a major in English Honours and a minor in Women and Gender Studies. Much of Emma's work centres around queer theory, social justice, and feminism.

Ezra Enns is finishing his final year of his Bachelor of Arts in Modern Languages, with a primary focus on Spanish. In addition to this translation, completed with guidance from Professor Monica Ruiz, Ezra has also worked as a translator for the Salvadoran Voices of Manitoba Project. After his degree, he plans to live in Colombia for a year.

Katryna Barske is a recent graduate of the Cultural Studies: Curatorial Practices Master's Program at the University of Winnipeg. She works with several arts organizations, including the Winnipeg Art Gallery, the Manitoba Crafts Museum and Library, and Mentoring Artists for Women's Art (MAWA), focusing on digital communications and art research practices. Her interests are in arts accessibility and diversity in museum collections.

Maram Rocha is an academic alchemist with eclectic higher education experience - he has a BSc degree in Biological Sciences from the University of Sao Paulo, and recently attained his BA from the University of Winnipeg. Maram is also trans, neurodivergent, hard of hearing, and a coffee lover who enjoys fantasy melodramas in his free time.

Noah Lesiuk graduated from the University of Winnipeg in 2021 with a Bachelor's degree in Criminal Justice. He is currently in the 2nd year of his Juris Doctor degree at Robson Hall and plans to pursue a career as a Crown prosecutor.

Olivia Rosemarie Ferreira is a recent Bachelor of Science (Honours) graduate in Neuroscience at The University of Winnipeg. She plans to further explore her passion for neuropathology and microbiology by pursuing a Master's degree in Infectious Diseases.

Salam Al Sayed is a Master of Arts student in the Cultural Studies (Texts & Cultures) program at the University of Winnipeg. She graduated with a Bachelor of Social Work from the University of Manitoba in 2016 and has worked with youth and families in local schools and social service organizations for the past six years. Her scholarly interests include, media theory, popular culture, trauma and wellness, postcolonial theory, and diaspora studies.

Sanjam Panag is a first-generation Punjabi settler living on Treaty 1 territory. She graduated from the University of Winnipeg in June 2021 with a Bachelor of Arts degree in Conflict Resolution Studies and Political Science.